Linking institutional ideals to classroom teaching is easier said than done. This lecture will deal with a course offered in the reorganized International Christian University curriculum entitled “The ICU Forest: Environment and Cultural Property.” I will discuss various features of the course’s background and pedagogy, including use of e-learning software, feedback mechanisms, and project-sharing, concluding with the course’s relevance to ICU’s ideals and its interest in responsible teaching.

Thursday, November 11 5:15 pm – 6:45 pm
Room 821 Library building (Lecture in English)
